perate ſeaſon. The xvj. colde and dzie. The xvij. continuing temperate. The xviij. white clowdes with blaſts. The xix. hote, tempeſtuous, and wyndie.

☽ Laſt quarter the xx. day, at vij. a clocke. xxviij. min. before noone, moderate for heate, with likelyhode of rayne. The xxj. raine and wynde. The xxij. colde, clowdie, and moyſt. The xxiij. warme and fayze. The xxiij. dzie and ſultrie hote. The xxv. wyndie blaſtes and dzie. The xxvj. cole and fayze. The xxvij. warme, with wette wyndes.

● Newe Moone the xxviij. day at foure a clocke xxviij. minutes before noone, wyndie, with warme ſhowers among. The xxix. inclyned to moyſture as before. The xxx. dzopping nowe and then. The xxj. warme and cleare.

¶ Of Iune.

The firſt day, wyndes and tempeſt, and like to thunder. The ſeconde cole and clowdie.

☾ Firſt quarter the thirde day at vj. a clock xxxij. minutes in the euening, dzie fayze and temperate. The iij. ſome varietie. The v. wette and wyndie. The vj. glummie, and likelyhode of moyſture. The vij. broken clowdes ouer heade. The viij ſet to rayne. The nynth, holding vp and dzie. The tenth, cole, with chaunge of ayze.

● Full Moone the xj. day at viij. a clocke ix. minutes in the mozning, hote and ſmoulme, threatning thunder. The xij. continuing diſpoſed as before. The xiij. fayze and temperate. The xiiij. alteration of weather. The xv. as before, wynde weſterly. The xvj. cole and clowdie for rayne. The xvij. moyſture and blaſts. The xviij. temperate and lyke to rayne.

☽ Laſt quarter the xix. day, halfe an houre before high noone, very warme and drie, with whyte clowdes flo-

C.j. ing.

Syn. B. 52. 103.

ing. The xx. continuing so disposed. The xxj. temperate and drie. The xxij. fayre with whyte clowdes dispersed. The xxiij. lyke disposition as before. The xxiiij. warme, and bent to rayne. The xxv. continuing as before.

● Newe Mone the xxvj. day, about halfe an houre after high none, thicke blacke clowdes importing rayne. The xxvj. abyding disposed to moysture. The xxviij. warme and fayre. The xxix. more temperate from heat. The xxx. drie, and cooler than before.

¶ Of Iulye.

The first day, drie weather, and temperate. The seconde warme and cleare skyes.

☾ First quarter the thirde day, at two a clocke xv. minutes in the morning, drie and smoultie hote. The fourth, moysture, and wynde Northerly. The v. disposed to moysture. The vj. calme, quiet, and temperate. The vij. troublesome, wynde, lightning, and thunder. The viij. fullie hote as before. The ix. more remisse of heate.

● Full Mone the x. day at x. a clocke, xlvj. minutes at night, cole and temperate, with drought. The xj. lyke disposition as before. The xij. warme and windie. The xiij. lyke disposed. The xiiij. clowdes [illegible] rayne. The xv. colde, and clowdie for showers. The xvj. continuing lyke, but warmer. The xvij. small mistings sometime. The xviij. warme with blastes.

☽ Last quarter, the xix. day, about halfe an houre and more before one a clocke in the morning, fayre and temperate. The xx. cole and lyke to rayne. The xxi. cleare, with wynde Westerlye. The xxij. fayre skie, and variable. The xxiij. stormie rayne. The xxiiij. lyke to holde as before.

● Newe Mone the xxv. day, at vj. a clocke, xlvij. min.

at 12.10.'68

perate season. The xvj. colde and drie. The xvij. continuing temperate. The xviij. white clowds with blasts. The xix. hote, tempestuous, and wyndie.

☽ Last quarter the xx. day, at vij. a clocke, xxxviij. min. before none, moderate for heate, with likelyhode of rayne. The xxj. raine and wynds. The xxij. colde, clowdie, and moyst. The xxiij. warme and fayre. The xxiiij. drie and sultrie hote. The xxv. wyndie blasts and drie. The xxvj. cole and fayre. The xxvij. warme, with wette wyndes.

● Newe Mone the xxviij. day at foure a clocke xxxviij. minutes before none. Wyndie, with warme showers among. The xxix. inclyned to moysture as before. The xxx. dropping nowe and then. The xxxj. warme and cleare.

¶ Of Iune.

The first day, wyndes and tempest, and like to thunder. The seconde cole and clowdie.

☾ First quarter the thirde day, at vj. a clock xxxiij. minutes in the euening, drie, fayre and temperate. The iiij. some varietie. The v. wette and wyndie. The vj. glummie, and likelyhode of moysture. The vij. broken clowdes ouer heade. The viij. set to rayne. The nynth, holding vp and drie. The tenth, cole, with chaunge of ayre.

● Full Mone the xj. day at viij. a clocke ix. minutes in the morning, hote and smoultrie, threatning thunder. The xij. continuing disposed as before. The xiij. fayre and temperate. The xiiij. alteration of weather. The xv. as before, wynde westerly. The xvj. cole and clowdie for rayne. The xvij. moysture and blasts. The xviij. temperate and lyke to rayne.

☽ Last quarter the xix. day, halfe an houre before high none, very warme and drie, with whyte clowdes flying. The xx. continuing so disposed. The xxj. temperate and dric. The xxij. fayre with whyte clowdes dispersed. The xxiij. lyke disposition as before. The xxiiij. warme, and bent to rayne. The xxv continuing as before.

● Newe Mone [illegible] xxvj. day, about halfe an houre after high none, thicke blacke clowdes importing rayne. The xxvij. abyding disposed to moysture. The xxviij. warme and fayre. The xxix. more temperate from heat. The xxx. dr[illegible], and colder than before.

¶ Of Iulye.

The first day, drie weather, and temperate. The seconde warme and cleare skyes.

☾ First quarter the thirde day, at two a clocke xxbiij. minutes in the morning, drie and smoultie hote. The fourth, moysture, and [illegible] Northerly. The v. disposed to moysture. The vj. calme, quiet, and temperate. The vij. trou[illegible]ome, wynde, lightning, and thunder. The viij. su[illegible]ie hote as before. The ix. more remisse of heate.

● Full Mone the x. day at x. a clocke, xbj. minutes at night, cole and temperate, with drough. The xj. lyke disposition as before. The xij. warme and wyndie. The xiij. lyke disposed. The xiiij. clowdes importing rayne. The xv. colde, and clowdie for showers. The xvj. continuing lyke, but warmer. The xvij. small misslings sometime. [illegible]. xbiij. warme with blasters.

☽ Last quarter, the xix. day, about halfe an houre and more before one a clocke in the morning, fayre and temperate. The xx. cole and lyke to rayne. The xxj. clowdie, with wynde Westerlye. The xxij. fayre skie, and variable. The xxiij. stormie rayne. The xxiiij. lyke to holde as before.

● Newe Mone the xxv. day at vij. a clocke, xxj. min. at Yorkeshire. at Ruthin in Wales.

¶ Faires in Nouember.

The seconde daye, at Blechyngtye. at Kingston. at Markeelde in Chesshyre.

The vi. day, being S. Leonardes day. at Standley. at Newporte ponde. at Trigney in Cornewale. at Halsoth. at Lellozde in Lancashire.

The x day being Benets day, at Lenton.

The xi being S. Martins day, at Marlborow. at Douer.

The xii. daye being Paternie daye. at S. Edmondesburie. at Gilforde.

The xiii. being S. Hughes daye, (and the beginning of the Quenes Maieshes regne that nowe is, whome God long preserue.) at Harlowe. at Hyde.

The xv. day, being S. Elizabeths day. at Hozsham.

The xx. being S. Edmonds day. at Hide. at Ingerstone.

The xxii. day, being S. Clements day. at Sandwich.

The xxx. day, being S. Andrew the Apostles day. at Colingborough. at Rochester. at Peterscelde. at Mapledrahead. at Warington in Lancashire. at Bewdley. at Barckwd in Yorkeshire. at Oscstry in Wales.

¶ Fayres in December.

The first day, which is S. Nicholas euen. at Pluckley.

The vi. day, which is S. Nicholas day. at Spalding. at Shnock. at Exeter. at Irndale. at Northwitch in Chesshire.

The viii. day, being Octa. of S. Andrewe. at Sandhurst.

The viii. daye, being the Concept. of Marie. at Clitherall in Lancashire. at Malpas in Chesshire.

The xxix. daye, at Canterburie. at Salisburie.

¶ Imprynted at London in Powles Churchyard, by Richarde Watkyns, and Iames Roberts.